Beyond the Lens

Roger Mayne photography exhibition

11 March - 22 April 2017

An exhibition of rarely seen, large-scale photographs by one of Britain's most important post-war photographers Roger Mayne.

Roger Mayne (1929 – 2014) famously documented the children and young residents of Southam Street in West London in the 1950's and 60's. His work has been exhibited widely including at both the V&A and National Portrait Gallery, London.

The photographs on display at THG are taken by Mayne from the 1950's to the 1970's and were hung in a barn at his home in Lyme Regis, Dorset. From London street scenes to exotic landscapes, they are crudely mounted photographs shown in their fragile state. They were originally shown at the Arnolfini, Bristol in 1974.

In the THG Project Space there is a selection of Mayne's photographs for the Shell Guide to Devon, published in 1975 (written by his wife, the playwright Ann Jellicoe).

Accompanying this exhibition there is a new book produced by Mayne's friend David Hibberd and fellow artist Roger Polley

Blooming Marvellous

A Community Knitted Garden exhibition

6 May - 24 June 2017

This knitted and crocheted 3D garden created by over 5,000 volunteers comes to THG as part of a national tour.

An intergenerational community knitting and crochet project, it initially climbed, crept and blossomed over three floors of Bournemouth Library. The aim of the project was to allow individuals and groups of all ages and abilities to participate in a community project, where knitting and crochet were explored as an art form and the skills handed down through the generations. The garden has also featured on the BBC's The One Show.

THG will be running activities to add further knitted/crocheted pieces so it continues to 'grow' like a real garden. There will also be coordinating activities to produce work inspired by the project.

As part of Museums At Night join us at a garden party to celebrate a year of our very own community garden Fri 19 May 5pm – 9pm (art activities until 8pm)
