Shop & Refreshments

Find the perfect gift, souvenir or postcard and relax with a drink amongst art and craft by South West artists and makers.

New Wild Art Garden

We have a new garden thriving with local wild flowers, vegetables and fruit trees, with interactive areas for families - bug hotels, live willow archways and edible plants.

Enjoy a family workshop or bring your picnic!

About us

Set in a Georgian Town House, the former home and studio of artist Thelma Hulbert, Thelma Hulbert Gallery (THG) features an acclaimed programme of contemporary art & craft exhibitions, alongside a permanent collection of Thelma Hulbert's work.

This award-winning public gallery is run by East Devon District Council and is supported by the Arts Council England. THG has been recognised through The Marsh Award for Gallery Education for its exceptional learning programme of workshops and activities for the community.

In addition to the galleries are a Learning Room with art & craft materials for children, a shop and a refreshments area and a new Wild Art garden.

Present Makers 2017

A selling exhibition of contemporary craft

11 November – 23 December

Following the growing success of our annual selling exhibition of contemporary craft THG will once again present a new selection of South West makers alongside some gallery favourites.

Selected from an open call Present Makers 2017 gives both established and emerging designers and makers the opportunity to showcase their work, highlighting the skill and diversity of craft produced across the South West region. Unique examples of textiles, jewellery, ceramics, glass and lighting will be on display with a range of prices to suit anyone looking for the ideal Christmas gift.

This exhibition has been kindly sponsored by Bevis & Beckingsale solicitors.

The closing date for applications to exhibit in this exhibition is 19 September 2017.

Please visit the gallery or www.thelmahulbert.com for details.
